Bryan and Stevenson Meet Party Leaders at Indianapolis.

SPEECH OF CANDIDATE BRYAN.

He Devotes His Address to the Question of Imperialism, Declaring the Attitude of the Republican Party Antagonistic to the Constitution.

Indianapolis, Aug. 9.-William Jennings Bryan and Adlai E. Stevenson were yesterday, in this city, officially and formally notified of their nominations by the Democrats at their recent Kansas City convention to the offices respectively of president and vice president of the United States. The ceremony was made the oceasion of a demonstration, with which the Democrats may be fairly said to have begun their national campaign. The notification occurred in the Miltary Park, a beautiful and shaded tract of ground in the center of the city, and was witnessed by many thousands. Congressman Richardson and Governor Thomas, of Colorado, made the notification speeches to the candidates, and both responded at length. Mr. Bryan started out by saying the present issue was a contest between democracy and plu-tocracy, and then discussed imperialism. In the course of his address he tocracy, and then discussed imperialism. In the course of his address he said:

When the president, supported by a practically unanimous vote of the house and senate, entered upon a war with Spain for the purpose of aiding the struggling patriots of Cuba, the country, without regard to party, applauded. Although the Democrats recognized that the administration would mecessarily gain a political advantage from the conduct of a war which, in the very nature of the case, must soon end in a complete victory, they vied with the Republicans in the support which they gave the president. When the war was over and the Republican leaders began to suggest the propriety of a colonial policy, opposition at once manifested itself. When the president finally laid before the senate a treaty which recognized the independence of Cuba, but provided for the cession of the Philippine Islands to the United States, the menace of imperialism became so apparent that many preferred to reject the treaty and risk the ills that might follow rather than take the chance of correcting the errors of the treaty by the independent action eff this country.

Those who would have this nation enter upon a career of empire naust consider not only the effect of imperialism on the Filipinos, but they must also calculate its effect upon our own nation. We cannot repudiate the principle of self government in the Philippines without weakening that principle here.

Our opponents, conscious of the weakness of their cause, seek to confuse imperialism with expansion, and have even dared to claim Jefferson spoke so freely and used language with such precision that no one can be ignorant of his views. On one occasion he declared: "If there be one principle more deeply rooted than any other in the mind of every American, it is that we should have nothing to do with conquest." And again nesaid: "Conquest is not in our principles; it is inconsistent with our government." The forcible annexation of terripory to be built up into states as a monarchy differs from a d wars of conquest we can expect a certain, if not rapid growth of our military establishment.

The Republican platform assumes that the Philippine islands will be retained under American sovereignty, and we have a right to demand of the Republican leaders a discussion of the future status of the Filipino. Is he to be a citizen or a subject? Are we to bring into the body politic $,000,000 or 10,000,000 Aslatics, so different from us in race and history that amalgamation is impossible? Are they to share with us in making the laws and shaping the destiny of this nation? No Republican of prominence has been bold enough to advocate such a proposition. The Democratic platform described the situation when it says that the Filipinos cannot be citizens without endangering our civilization.

When we made allies of the Filipinos proposition. The Democratic platform described the situation when it says that the Filipinos cannot be citizens without endangering our civilization.

When we made allies of the Filipinos and armed them to fight against Spain we disputed Spain's title. If we buy Spain's title we are not innocent purchasers. But even if we had not disputed Spain's title, she could transfer no greater title than she had, and her title was based on force alone. We cannot defend such a title, but as Spain gave us a quit claim deed, we can honorably turn the property over to the party in possession. Whether any American of ficial gave the Filipinos moral assurance of independence is not material. I submit that history furnishes no example of turpitude baser than ourse if we now substitute our yoke for the Spain's tyoke. The permanent chairman of the last Republican national convention presented the pecuniary argument in all its baldness when he said:

"We make no hypocritical pretenses of being interested in the Philippines solely on account of others. While we regard the welfare of those people as a sacred trust we regard the welfare of the American people first. We see our duty to ourselves as well as to others. We believe in trade expansion. By every legitimate means within the province of government and constitution we mean to stimulate the expansion of our trade and open new markets."

This is the commercial argument. It is based upon the theory that war can be rightly waged for pecuniary advantage, and that it is profitable to purchase trade by force and violence. Frankin.

denied both of these projection. I place the philosophy of Frankin against the sordid doctrine of those who would put a price upon the life of an American soldier and justify a war of conquest upon the ground that it will pay. The Democratic party is in favor of the expansion of trades. It would extend our trade by every legitimate and peaceful means, but it is not willing to make merchandise of human blood.

Imperialism would be profitable to the army contractors: it would be profitable to the ship owners, who would carry live soldiers to the Philippines and bring dead soldiers back; it would be profitable to those who would seize upon the franchises, and it would be profitable to the officials whose salaries would be fixed here and paid over there, but to the farmer, to the laboring man and to the vast majority of those engaged in other occupations it would bring expenditure without return and risk without reward. Love, not force, was the weapon of the Nazarene; sacrifice for others, not the exploitation of them, was his method of reaching the human heart. Let it be known that our missionaries are seeking souls instead of sovereignty; let it be known that instead of being the advance guard of conquering armies, they are going forth to help and to uplift.
